

miessence® INDEPENDENT REPRESENTATIVE

Miessence is the world's first extensive range of internationally certified organic skin, hair, body, cosmetic, oral and nutritional products.

Our range of products stands in a class of their own. They are independently certified to international food grade standards by some of the world's most respected organic certifying organizations - Australian Certified Organic (ACO), the US Department of Agriculture (USDA) and IFOAM (Europe).

The passion for developing superior organic health, beauty and nutritional products continues with new, innovative lines under constant development. All Miessence products have been extensively researched and developed for quality and effectiveness using pure natural ingredients without any artificial chemical processing. Still today, Miessence is unmatched, unrivaled in purity potency & freshness.

Our ecofriendly network marketing program is comprehensive and rewarding. It is an ideal way for health, beauty and complementary medicine professionals to enjoy a further revenue stream for their business. It is also an excellent opportunity for people who have a passion for certified organic products to affordably start their own business.

The company's ground breaking efforts and success have created a grass roots education movement for organic, eco-friendly and healthy alternatives.

Narelle Chenery – The Mother of EcoBeauty, founding director and director of research and development

After expressing her frustration at the ethics of the company she had just left, a family member gave her some books on aromatherapy, herbal remedies, and recipes for natural skin care products. Surprisingly, even these books recommended toxic preservatives, so Narelle started experimenting with her own methods and created her first skin creams (which she gave away as gifts).

As her research deepened, she was captivated by the many wonderful offerings of Mother Nature, and grew more concerned about the poisonous ingredients that most cosmetics contained. She was inspired to tell others about her findings, and had articles published in several well-respected natural health magazines. The response was so positive that Narelle soon realized she was on to a winner, and this fuelled her passion even more!

As a young mother pregnant with her third child, Narelle's kitchen hobby soon grew into a vibrant home-based business. As her children grew, so did the demand for her products, and Narelle juggled nappies, school lunches, making products and product orders.

A year and a half later, while showing her wares at a natural products expo, Narelle was approached by entrepreneur Alf Orpen. Impressed with her knowledge and dedication, Alf challenged her to create a fully certified organic skin-care range. Narelle had been eating organic food since her first pregnancy in 1994, and believed wholeheartedly in the organic philosophy. She was up for the challenge!

Industry colleagues and critics said it couldn't be done...that especially organic ingredients would spoil if not preserved with chemicals. Narelle trusted her intuition and persevered. After eighteen months of intense research and development, and a generous development grant from the government, Miessence became the world's first certified organic skin-care and cosmetic range. Startling the multi-billion dollar natural cosmetics industry, her product range was third-party tested under flawless scrutiny, and awarded organic certification in January 2001.

Our Exceptional Aloe Vera

The first ingredient in nearly all of our ingredient lists is aloe vera. Our ingredients are based in aloe vera, not water, making our products, concentrated and potent. Not only this, our aloe vera is truly exceptional! Miessence Executive, Alison Price explains....

The laboratory testing conducted on Miessence Aloe Vera speaks volumes on the quality of our products. No theories, no internal standards, no assumptions – just living proof! In all three trials of in vitro research, our Miessence Aloe Vera proved to accelerate skin cell growth. The results also showed us that the higher the concentration of our Aloe Vera gel, the larger the increase in skin cell regeneration (basal keratinocytes).

Why Our Aloe Vera is Unequaled

The Miessence certified organic aloe farm grows the Barbados Miller variety aloe crops according to the organic standard.

Every leaf is harvested by hand at the plant's peak of maturity. Once cut, the leaves will naturally seal themselves within a short period to keep the gel inside the leaf fresh. To guard the leaves from being bruised or damaged in transportation, the processing is done very close to the aloe fields. Miessence Aloe is processed within one day of being harvested and the inner aloe gel (fillet) carefully removed by hand to minimize disruption.

Once the pulp and fiber is removed, the gel is then concentrated by low temperature evaporation in special equipment developed exclusively for our aloe supplier. The goal is to keep the aloe's healing compounds, including polysaccharides and other bio-active components intact which would otherwise be destroyed by heat. The gel concentrate is not preserved, but freeze dried for transportation to the Miessence production facility where it is used immediately in nearly 75 Miessence products.

Increasing your fruit and vegetable intake and consuming wholesome, natural and unprocessed foods may not be enough to maintain or even reach optimum health. Why?

Our foods have become nutritionally deficient. Compared to the foods of yesteryear, the foods we grow by modern methods have declined in phytonutrients.

Fruits and veggies are products of their literal environment and are only as good as the soil that they are grown in. Soil depletion, use of toxic pesticides and chemicals and unnatural ripening of food potentially contribute to the decline of nutrients we need to reach that goal of optimum health.

When we consider this...

Dr. Deepak Chopra, MD Grow Younger, Live Longer

“98% of all diseases are preventable through lifestyle and health design.”

New Representative Testimonial

I'm a stay at home mom who sees only a handful of friends at play dates each week. But, what I've found so far is that if I just talk about the products, or even mention them on Facebook, and show my genuine excitement for the company, others become interested. I have 14 people waiting for samples right now! Hannah and the rest of the team have been so incredible, helping me get started and answering any questions I have. Everyone is very supportive. I have learned so much already, not only about Miessence products, but about sales and marketing and business growth. If you have enjoyed the products, are looking for added income, and a flexible, go at your own pace, schedule, I highly recommend becoming a Miessence rep. – M.G., Joined November 2013
